

Analyse how powerful states influence Global interaction in ways which benefit themselves [12 marks]

Global interactions include globalisation, which is the connection between people and places from all around the globe. Powerful states are very important when it comes to global interactions as they have the necessary power and needs. An example of a powerful state would be the United States of America (USA).

POI IMPROVE
 GLOBALISATION
 DEFINITION

~~They have a high GDP,~~ This essay will analyse how powerful states, like the USA, influence Global interactions in ways which are beneficial for themselves.

structure 1

1
 ↳ social culture

economic
 ↳ IMF, World Bank, IUC's

political ↳ UN, Afghanistan

structure 2

Soft power (2 paragraphs)
 - trade
 - culture
 - diplomacy
 - aid

Hard power (2 paragraphs)
 - military
 - trade sanction

Soft power

trade

- production in countries where it's cheaper, sales in 'western countries'
- Free trade (NAMED E.S.)
→ EU, NATO, Mercosur
← Trump isolationism
- World Bank → promote trade

Aid

- IMF ⇒ Greece 2015, 40 billion
45%
- World Bank ⇒ DR Congo mega dam project
→ Philippines, poverty reduction programme, US$ 470 mil loan
- (- G8 ⇒ '11, stabilize Japan after tsunami)

Hard power

Military

- military bases in other countries/continent, adv. point
- alliances

Trade sanctions (!)

- world bank - strict loans grant

clear conclusion

DR

In conclusion, there are different global interactions which can benefit powerful states, like the USA, themselves. ~~Global~~ in Beneficial global interactions which are soft power include trade and aid, examples are Free trade & like within NATO and the world bank lending money to other countries. Hard power interactions are military and trade sanctions, for example military can provide oversea military bases ~~and trade sanctions (!)~~